Atlantic Eye Research Foundation Brings New Vision to those in Need

Cash for Clarity Campaign Delivers Life-Changing Cataract Surgeries

On Saturday 26 July, the Atlantic Eye Research Foundation (AERF), in proud partnership with the Radiance Foundation, hosted its inaugural Cash for Clarity Campaign outreach event at Eerste Rivier Hospital.

The initiative provided 19 pro bono cataract surgeries to underserved patients, restoring not just vision, but dignity and connection to those who had been living in the shadows of blindness.

Driven by a mission to provide access to critical eye care by improving service delivery, the campaign brought together a dedicated team of ophthalmic professionals from Atlantic Eye Centre, including renowned surgeons Dr Steven, Dr McClunan and Dr van der Merwe. Supported by a team of nine committed staff members, the team volunteered their time and expertise to deliver this gift of sight to patients in need.

"It was truly heart-warming to see their faces when they saw their families for the first time in so long – not a dry eye in sight," said the AERF Foundation Manager. "The gratitude from patients was genuinely palpable."

The event was made possible through the generous support of sponsors Envision, OSI, and Alcon, whose contributions helped cover essential surgical materials.

The Atlantic Eye Research Foundation aims to expand its outreach efforts, with hopes of securing more donations and sponsorships to fund future Cash for Clarity Campaign events.
